Biography

Sarah Mitchell, a 45-year-old botanical conservator hailing from a quiet suburban town in the Pacific Northwest. While her day-to-day work revolves around preserving and studying plant life, her true passion lies in retro-style gaming. Sarah's childhood was spent in front of a CRT TV, mastering classic retro games like Donkey Kong.

Today, she seeks to relive those nostalgic moments through modern gaming experiences, particularly console games reminiscent of the classics. She may not be looking for an intricate story or immersive gameplay; instead, she craves balanced challenges and games that capture the essence of the retro era.

Frustrations
